ITINERARIO

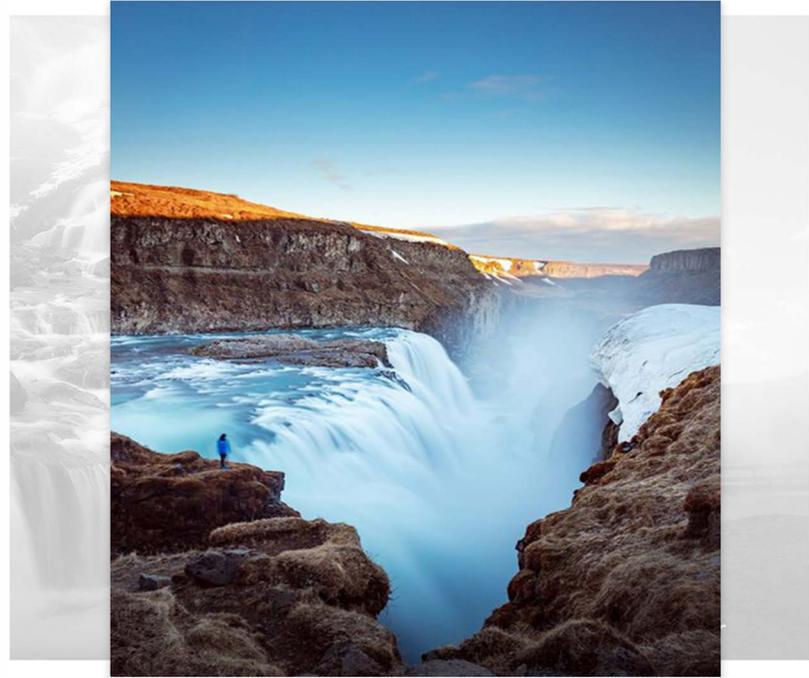

DAYTOUR GOLDEN CIRCLE

Duration : 8 - 9 hours

Dates: All year

It is a carefully selected day on this famous region of the country, where we include the Fontana Spa and the visit with lunch at the Fridheimar greenhouse farm.

This place is rich in history, with powerful waterfalls, geothermal springs, erupting geysers, tectonic plate divergence, delicious food production, all on Reykjavik's doorstep.

OUR ROUTE

These are the points we will visit

We start the day with your hotel pick-up between 08:30-10:00, depending on the time of year.

We drive to the Pingvellir National Park, which has a very important historical and geological significance as well as incredible beauty.

We go to the town of Laugarvatn, where we will witness a demonstration of how they bake bread through geothermal energy and we can take a relaxing thermal bath in the Fontana spa.

At the end, we headed towards the Fridheimar farm-greenhouse; there they produce more than a ton of tomatoes per day. Having lunch among the tomato plants is something that we are sure you will never forget. We will be able to try its famous tomato soup, ravi-ole pasta, grilled pizza, homemade bread and hot drinks.

We then drive for a while to witness the force of Gullfoss, one of the most powerful and iconic waterfalls in Iceland. In a short drive we arrive at the Geysir geothermal area, where we will see the original geyser and its brother "Strokkur" which is the one that erupts today.

From here we headed for Reykjavik, arriving in time for dinner.
