This will be an action packed day that allows you to experience some of the best places on the south coast of Iceland, vivid glaciers blue where we can walk, important waterfalls, beaches volcanic black sand, icebergs and volcanoes that can reach be quite destructive.

The south coast of Iceland has many things to offer and you can experience in an unforgettable day.

OUR ROUTE

This trip starts with the pick up from your hotel between 08:00 -

9:30 a.m., depending on the time of year. We'll get out of town driving through the beautiful icelandic landscape to the village of Hvalsvoellur. Here we will visit the award-winning and interactive Lava Centre, where we can learn many things about volcanoes of the place that we will see during today.

We continue towards one of the highlights of the trip, the impressive Sólheimajökull glacier, which flows from the ice cap of Myrdalsjokull where we will do the glacier walk. It will last 2 - 2.5 hours in total, with about 1-1.5 hours on the glacier ice, walking around 3-4 kilometers (approximately 2 miles). The hike requires a moderate fitness level where you will climb uneven and somewhat inclined terrain, but it is not necessary be an experienced person to perform this activity, or a lot less. There we can walk and explore the characteristics ice temperatures. You will be provided with all the necessary material to carry out the activity and will be directed at all times by a guide titled.

After this activity we go to Reynisfjara, where we can enjoy the incredible rock formations in this spectacular black sand beach, as well as having lunch in the place. Afterwards we will return to Reykjavik but not before stopping at some of the most impressive natural landscapes of the place. Skógafoss and Seljalandsfoss waterfalls will impress each other in their own way, on clear days, they will be surprised by the infamous volcanoes Hekla and Eyjafallajokull as well as the imposing "Vestmaneyjar" sands.

Our goal is to arrive in time for the capital for dinner.
